This morning paper carries an advertisement in the "Help wanted Male" Column that calls for "Man with light Car for rural police work - for National Bureau of Investigation". They know the Thurston firm and tried to persuade the Gentlemen that a woman might be able to do the work - He represents the General Publishing Co. of Port an, New York. After listening me that a woman would be out of place in the Car - he who is gambling - he suggests I write to his Company - and upon his return to New York he would often will be rewarded.

 One advertisement has been answered and a contact made - there a chance to be a door bell promoter - "Opening house - wire the bell chime and back facts - on the market today" - of this is the road to me, independence all power to the door bell and the two who concern it's mine
